Ike Reported Rested After Night's Sleep

Condition Continues To Progress With No Complications

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower was reported today to be feeling "rested and refreshed" after a good night's sleep.

A 7 a. m. (MST) medical bulletin from the bedside said: "The President had another good night. He slept from 9:30 p. m. to 5:30 a. m., when he awoke feeling rested and refreshed."

"His condition continues to progress satisfactorily without complication."

After writing his vice president Monday night to carry on affairs of the National Security Council and the Cabinet, Eisenhower had been reported "in a cheerful mood" after a "good day."

The uneasiness created by word Sunday night that the chief executive didn't "feel as well as usual" evaporated after physicians found no evidence of fatigue.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist, reported "everything goes well" at the sickbed on the eighth floor of Fitzsimons Army Hospital.

Second Crucial Week

This is the second crucial week in the aftermath of the coronary thrombosis the President, who will be 65 Oct. 14, suffered Sept. 24 at the Denver home of his mother-in-law Mrs. John S. Doud.

By the weekend, barring complications, his doctors look forward hopefully to a period of convalescence which will enable Eisenhower to move into a more active direction of government.

The expectation is that he will be flown to his farm at Gettysburg, Pa., in two or more weeks for a period of recuperation during which he will be able to confer with administration advisers on matters requiring his early attention.

At 8:45 p. m., White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty reported the President "had a good day" and added: "There was no evidence of fatigue. The President had supper and again visited (for the third time during the day) with Mrs. Eisenhower. His condition continues to be satisfactory without complications."

Conferred With Adams

In a 10-minute business conference Monday with his chief deputy Sherman Adams, the President signed a letter to Vice President Nixon asking him to carry on the meetings of the Cabinet and security council.

He also signed a memorandum to Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey which, in effect, makes Japan a member of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

At the same time he signed a routine memorandum authorizing John B. Hollister, director of the International Cooperation Administration, to send to six congressional committees a report that no additional decisions have been made since June 30 and continuing foreign aid to various nations.

The President also approved an extension of time, from Oct. 1 to Oct. 21, for a presidential emergency board to report on a labor dispute between the Pennsylvania Railroad and 35,000 non-operating employees.

Dr. White, who made his own examination of the President a few days ago and is receiving "relieved" after talking with physicians at the hospital Monday.

40 Classrooms, Big Gym Seen For Structure

Krinsky Directed To Draw Up Sketch Of Proposed Building

A modern, flat-roofed, very low structure of 30-40 classrooms to handle about 900 students is being planned as Salem's new senior high school, Ben Krinsky, Cleveland architect, told the board of education last night.

Krinsky, in answer to board questioning, told his ideas for the proposed building which he pictures as beautiful, done in clean-cut, simple lines.

The board directed Krinsky to draw up an architect's sketch of the tentative outline of the building so it can be displayed before election. Voters will decide Nov. 8 on a $2,585,000 bond issue for the construction of the school. If approved the school will be constructed between E. Sixth and Ninth Streets.

Krinsky said that in keeping with the board's call for a large gym, the architects are now planning a gym for Salem even larger than the new Parma High School gym. (See photos on page seven.)

Krinsky declared the gym will have 2,000 seats along the sidelines with room for seating behind the ends of the gym, increasing the gym's total capacity to 2,600-3,000. Krinsky said glass banking boards will be used so that spectators on the ends will have an unobstructed view of the games.

Parma's gym seats 1,800, Krinsky said, and he listed other seating capacities in new high schools in eastern Ohio as 1,800 for Euclid, 1,500 for Rocky River, and 1,100 for Medina.

Parma and Euclid are two of the biggest high school gyms in Cuyahoga County, Krinsky said, surpassed only by the Shaw High School in Cleveland, where the fieldhouse will seat 2,200.

The board decided that neither the superintendent of school's offices nor the board of education of Turn To HIGH SCHOOL, Page 14

Independents Tell Saxons Of Aims

Lloyd Gordon, William Bailey and Curtis Vaughn, candidates on the Independent ticket, speaking at a Saxon Club social gathering Monday night, declared that the Independents will conduct municipal affairs on sound fundamental business principles, if elected Nov. 8.

Gordon, Independent candidate for mayor, said "we are opposed to any new local tax, although it appears the present administration is spending more money than it has. We are confident that we can put the city on a sound program of operations."

The Salem Citizens Association, backers of the Independent group, are sending out letters to the more than 400 persons who signed Independent petitions last January, soliciting their efforts to secure additional support for the Independents on election day.

David Keller, chairman of the Citizens group, envisioned a goal of 2,500 votes. Officers of the association met yesterday at Timberlans.

Purge Reported In Argentina

Top Aides To Peron Face Retirement

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Argentina's new government today was reported purging top military leaders under deposed dictator Juan Peron.

Arrest of some 20 generals was reported by unofficial sources close to the army. They appeared to have been picked up mainly to prevent any aid to Peron should he seek to make a comeback.

There was speculation the generals would be retired ultimately, since apparently their only error in the eyes of the new government was having obeyed the orders of the previous regime and protecting it.

Molina Reported Held

Although there was no confirmation from officials, other sources reported those under arrest included the former army commander in chief, Gen. Jose Domingo Molina, and the rest of the 14-man junta which took over the government after Peron resigned and during its few days of rule in Buenos Aires negotiated the peace with the victorious rebels.

The peace resulted in installation of Maj. Gen. Eduardo Lonardi as provisional president. Lonardi has said he would hold elections for a new Congress as soon as the voting roll can be prepared.

From the Asuncion, Paraguay, private home where he is a closely guarded exile, Peron in a brief written statement to newsmen indicated he still hoped to return to Argentina — and politics.

Hints of Return

The ex-dictator said he would "not move a finger in political affairs, but will live a purely private life as Juan Peron." But he added significantly: "When I do (indulge in political affairs), I will return to my country."

County Gets Polio Vaccine For 2nd Shots

A total of 1,700 doses of Salk polio vaccine is in the Columbiana County Health Department office at Lisbon awaiting the start of the second round of inoculations for school children in the general health district "shortly after Nov. 1," Dr. A. S. Rumreich, county health commissioner, said today.

Two county health department nurses, Mrs. Violet Peterson and Mrs. Mary Alice Rumberger, went to the northeast Ohio district health office in Cuyahoga Falls on Monday to get the vaccine supply. Dr. Rumreich said earlier the inoculations would be given when the polio season subsides.

Of a total of 1,961 school children eligible to receive the shots, parents of 1,632 of them have given their consent, 65 have declined, and 264 haven't reported yet, the doctor said. A total of 1,925 children received the inoculations in the spring, he added.

Only those children who received their first inoculation in the school program last spring will be eligible.

Childhood Diseases May Be To Blame Doctors Find Clue To Cause Of Epilepsy, Cerebral Palsy

CHICAGO (AP)—A possible clue to the cause of some types of epilepsy, cerebral palsy, spastic paralysis and feeble-mindedness was reported today by a team of University of Illinois researchers.

Dr. Frederic A. Gibbs and two colleagues said new findings with a "brain wave" machine suggest the possibility that certain neurological disorders of unknown cause may be late results of common virus infections of childhood, such as measles, mumps and whooping cough. They reported to the 24th annual meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics.

The new studies "re-emphasize the need for finding improved preventive measures for common viral infections of childhood," Dr. Gibbs told a reporter, adding: "Some important advances already have been made. And recent advances in the prevention of poliomyelitis justify hope that prevention in the whole field of viral diseases will eventually be greatly improved."

The researchers said they had found evidence that encephalitis, or brain infection, commonly occurs in "supposedly uncomplicated cases" of measles and other prevalent virus infections of childhood.

The evidence showed up, they said, in "brain wave machine" studies of 700 children at Chicago's Municipal Contagious Disease Hospital.

They said that "fortunately" the number of cases in which the brain infection persists is small. But they added that in such persistent cases, convulsive seizure and neurological defects may show up several years or more after the child has recovered from his measles or other childhood virus disease.

In their report—made at a scientific exhibit at the academy meeting—the researchers said: "By studying different types of virus infection and working with the youngest age groups it may be possible to pin the blame for some types of epilepsy, cerebral palsy, spastic paralysis and feeble-mindedness on virus infection occurring in childhood."

They said the "brain wave" machine offers a valuable aid to such work because, for one thing, "It makes the cerebral disorder evident, even when it is in a clinically silent phase."

Accept Bids For School Projects

The low bids of John Hollinger to construct a retaining wall at the east side of Prospect School and to construct the last curb wall to complete the Fourth St. improvement program was accepted last night by the Salem Board of Education.

Hollinger bid $774.40 on the Prospect project and $831.60 on the Fourth St. work, for a total bid of $1,606. Bricker & Bricker was the only other bidder on the project, with a total bid of $3,098 for the two jobs.

The work is expected to be completed this fall.

The board also accepted the bid from Camp's Service Co. of $855 for repairing and establishing drainage grades on the driveway and bicycle parking lot at the rear of the high school.

Supt. of Schools E. S. Kerr told the board that freezing water and heavy coal trucks have ruined the present driveway. Camp bid $150 to excavate and establish a new grade, $450 to apply 2,651 square feet of two-inch blacktop, and $255 to put a six inch slag foundation under the blacktop.

In other action the board approved the appointment of Miss Carol Edgerton as secretary in the Trades Class office and Mrs. Selma Davis as secretary in the school nurse's office.

Jesse Edgerton and Stanley Lentz were appointed full-time assistant janitors.

Reinforcements Pour Into Fight In Morocco

RABAT, Morocco (AP)—Reinforcements, poured out of Fez toward the Spanish Moroccan border today to put down a Berber rebellion which has driven the French from one post and threatens others.

The little post of Imouzzer-Des-Marmoucha, 65 miles southeast of Fez, was abandoned after 11 Europeans were killed in a surprise attack early Sunday.

About 60 rebels launched a new attack this morning against the French post at Taforalt, 40 miles from Oujda near the Algerian border. They were driven off.

The extent of the uprising was hard to measure. More than 1,500 rebels, many from the Spanish side of the frontier, took part. The trouble was not confined to Morocco. Some of the rebels spilled over into Algeria where 292 were rounded up, part of a Berber tribe which lives on both sides of the French-Spanish Moroccan frontier.

The attacks apparently were by tribesmen who want exiled Sultan Mohammed Ben Youssef returned to the throne.

In Algeria itself, fresh on the heels of the U. N. vote favoring a debate on the problem, disturbances seemed to be increasing.

The trouble was so widespread they promised to test the capacity of France to handle them. Virtually all France's fighting forces are in North Africa, only a token force remaining in the French zone of Germany.

Recently approximately 60,000 more Frenchmen were called back to the colors, and Monday a new call was issued in Algeria to muster reservists on the spot.

Russell Co., Union Fail To Reach Accord

COLUMBIANA — No agreement was reached at Monday's meeting in Heck's Restaurant between representatives of the F. C. Russell Co. and striking United Steelworkers of America employees, and another meeting was set tentatively at the same place Wednesday at 1 p. m.

Yesterday's session lasted approximately an hour and a half.

Workers went on strike at the Russell plant Friday at midnight after the union's contract with the company expired. The union is asking that the basic "big steel" wage increase of 11 1/2 cents an hour be incorporated in a new contract; the company is offering 5 1/2 cents, Ross Joseph of Salem, local union president, said.

Approximately 200 union members of 250 employed at the plant are idled. Pickets are patrolling the gates.

IT'S 'ON TO MIAMI' FOR SALEM LEGION BAND $10,000 Fund Goal In Sight, Bandsmen To Leave On Friday

Community support has made it possible for Salem's American Legion Quaker City Band to participate in the national American Legion band competition at Miami, Fla., this weekend.

With a $10,000 goal in sight today, final arrangements were being completed for the band members' departure by chartered plane from the Pittsburgh airport early Saturday morning.

Charles Haldi, R. S. McCulloch Sr., James H. Wilson and other citizens directing fund-raising activities for Salem's Ohio Legion championship band announced this morning that $9,500 had been obtained in the fund drive and that they hope to have $1,500 additional by tomorrow.

This will cover all of the band's expenses in making the trip to and from Miami and care for the lodging and feeding of the bandsmen while in Miami. Headquarters there will be at the President Madison Hotel.

The $9,500 includes the $3,500 which the band will receive from the Ohio American Legion for winning the state championship earlier this summer in Columbus.

Sixty-five members of the Quaker City band will leave here Friday at 10:30 by bus for the Pittsburgh airport to arrive there in time to board the plane at 2 a. m. Arrival in Miami is scheduled for 7 a. m.

Band rehearsals are set for Saturday in Miami, preceding actual competition on Sunday. On Monday the band will play at the national and Ohio Legion headquarters and on Tuesday will march in the Legion's mammoth parade. Departure for home is set for 1 a. m. Wednesday.

Meanwhile today, William Schickelschmidt, band director, said the band is "very confident" of reaching the $10,000 goal.

Considerable damage was suffered by both cars. Hill was cited by patrolmen for failure to yield the right of way.

Pennsylvania Railroad Lays Columbiana Switch

COLUMBIANA — The Pennsylvania Railroad has laid the switch from its main line to the site of the Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Co.'s refractories plant west of town and will complete the main switch on the company's premises, a distance of 790 feet. The switch branches from the railroad a little more than a quarter of a mile west of the Route 344 crossing.

A fill of about 25 feet for a distance of nearly 300 feet was required to carry the switch over Cherry Fork creek and its bottom land. Earth for the fill was obtained from a cut that had to be made in reaching the plant site and from a knoll the Kaiser Co. wanted removed. A steel multiple culvert of two tubes, each eight feet in diameter and 100 feet long, takes the creek under the switch. The tubes are of heavy, corrugated, galvanized steel.

The Brewster & Raymond Co. of Cleveland started work today on its contract to lay from the main switch 2,300 feet of switches around the plant.

Work on the foundations has progressed far enough to show the outlines of the plant.

A BANQUET at the new Joshua Dixon elementary school building Saturday evening, attended by about 325, concluded the two-day centennial celebration of Allen Lodge No. 276, F. & A.M. of Columbiana. Grand Master Edward W. Kuns, judge of the Paulding county common pleas court, and Senior Grand Warden John W. Barkley of Shaker Heights, Cleveland, represented the Grand Lodge of Ohio and were the speakers. The banquet was served by the Parent Teacher Organization of the Columbiana schools.

A history of the lodge, prepared by the Rev. A. R. Brown, its senior warden, was a feature of the celebration, showing that it has grown to a membership of more than 300. In its long history, the lodge had twice built up a good membership, when it was reduced by Leetonia members instituting a lodge of their own, and again when a lodge was instituted in East Palestine. In 1914, Allen Lodge was able to report to the Grand Lodge a membership of 100, and its growth since then has been substantial. Thirty-one resident Masons are members of other lodges.

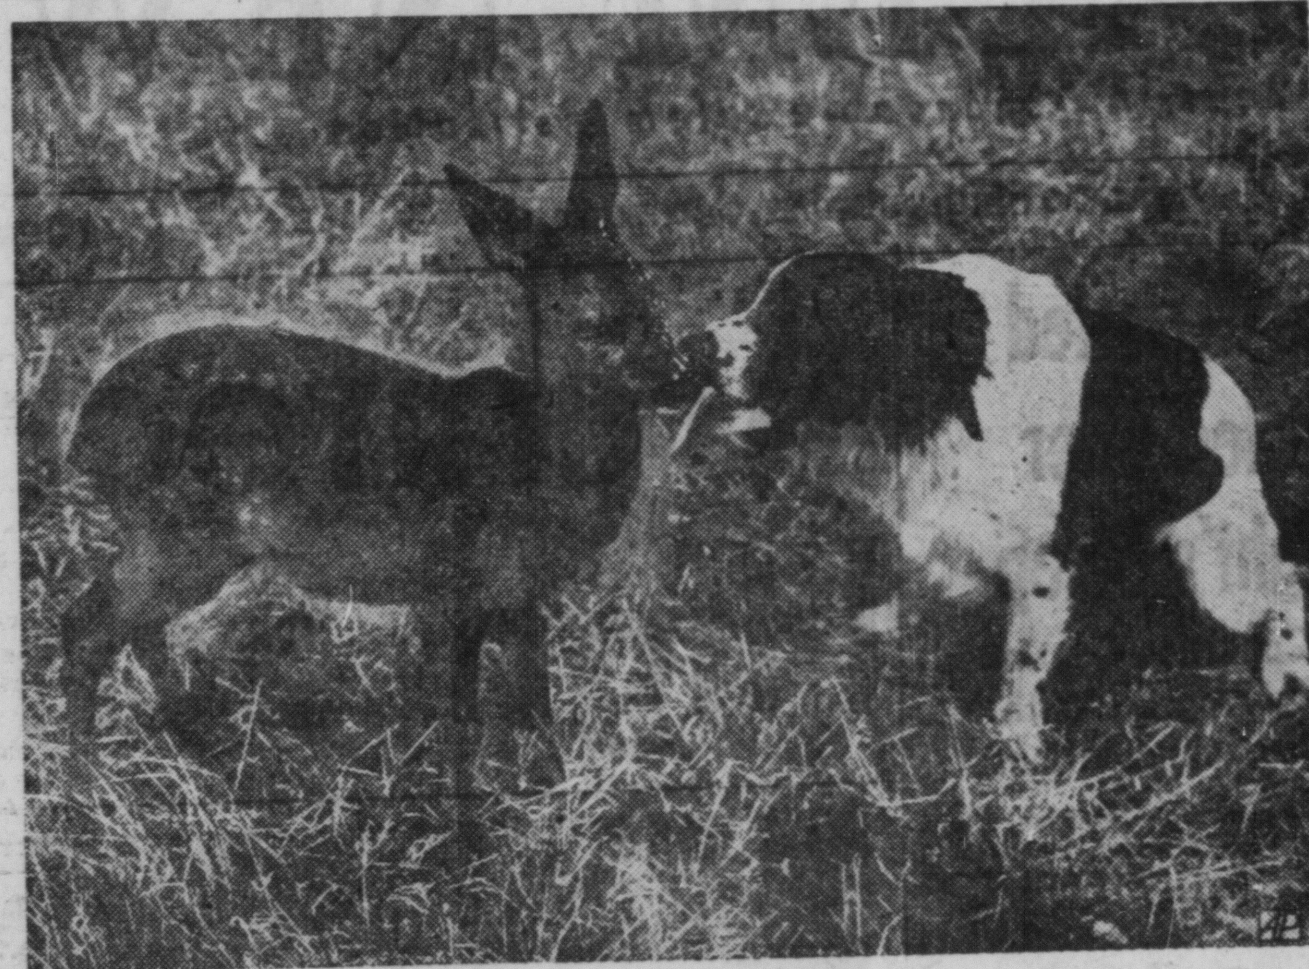

Members of the Columbiana Ministerial association met Monday with the president, Rev. Donald J. Voelm, at Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church and discussed plans for an organized effort to get out the vote for the local option election Nov. 8. A proposal to legalize the sale of intoxicants in Columbiana will be on the ballot.

A schedule of services at the Anglemeyer Nursing Home was made out, each minister to serve a turn of one month. Another schedule for High School assemblies was also adopted.

Another meeting will be held at the same place next Monday.

SEVENTY-FIVE GRACE Church young people and their friends enjoyed a hay ride Sunday evening to the Roy Kridler farm southwest of town.

In its annual membership drive, in which it aims to enroll 300 persons, the Booster Club has mailed 1,000 notices setting forth its activities in the interest of the community. The club will have its October meeting in the High School building at 8 p.m. Wednesday when motion pictures of recent games of the Clipper football squad will be shown.

Dick Mahon of Columbiana, who won the club championship tournament three weeks ago was the winner in the fall round-up Sunday of Valley Golf Club. In a four-way tie for second place, Ralph Knepper of Salem won the drawing, and the three others, Graydon Metz and Art Rohrer, of Columbiana, and Gene Billet of Boardman, shared equally in the third prize. In a blind bogey event in conjunction, the prize was split four ways among Glenn Culter and Clyde White of Salem, and Dale Klingensmith and Art Leiser, of Columbiana. The round-up was the final event of the season, but the course will remain open until Nov. 1.

Members of Columbiana Hobby Club will make a trip to New Castle Wednesday to tour the Castle pottery.

Towasi Circle of the Presbyterian Church will have a "come-as-you-are" party at the church at 8 p.m. tomorrow. Mrs. Dorothy Armbruster will conduct devotions. Hostesses will be Mrs. Marjorie Barber, Mrs. Margaret Gibson, Ms. Hazel Luke and Mrs. Edith Hawkins.

Agree On New Reciprocity Pact

West Virginia Okays Ohio Axle-Mile Tax

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The West Virginia Vehicle Reciprocity Board has agreed to scrap its old agreement with Ohio and draw up a new pact exempting the Buckeye State's axle-mile tax from the provisions.

The tax is a levy on trucks with three or more axles for use of Ohio highways. The Ohio Supreme Court last June ruled the tax could not be collected from Michigan truckers because of a 1937 reciprocity agreement between the two states.

Ohio since has been seeking to amend reciprocity agreements with other states—excluding the axle tax from the provisions. Three states have agreed to the change. West Virginia is the fourth to signify similar intentions.

West Virginia's reciprocity board yesterday authorized Motor Vehicle Commissioner Joseph P. Condry to draw up a new agreement. It will be subject to the approval of the Ohio Reciprocity Board.

However, West Virginia wants something in exchange for the axle tax exclusion, Condry explained. He said this will be covered by a provision in the new agreement which makes Ohio truckers subject to West Virginia's gasoline importer tax. The latter taxes gasoline bought outside West Virginia which is used in traveling this state's highways.

West Virginia has been collecting its importer tax all along from truckers from Ohio and other states. Officials here feel, however, the tax should be included in any new agreement to protect this state against possible suits for refunds.

The importer tax is not exempted specifically from the existing Ohio-West Virginia reciprocity pact.

Ohio had cancelled reciprocity agreements with 13 states for refusing to amend existing agreements. But a common pleas court in Columbus recently granted a temporary injunction to restrain Ohio from cancelling four other pacts, and reinstating the 13 already cancelled.

No.8—Authority Won't Hurt Junior a Bit Parenthood Without Hokum

By HOWARD WHITMAN

The father of a child who was a critical behavior problem complained to a probation worker in Los Angeles, "I just don't understand it. I've been a pal, a real buddy, to my boy."

"You may have been a pal and buddy," the probation worker replied. "But have you been a parent? Don't forget a child needs that, too."

This I found a common pattern throughout the country. Children need pals, certainly (that's why they have playmates), but children also need a mother and father who are not afraid to be parents.

At the Family Service Organization of Louisville, Ky., Director Esther Taylor commented, "One of our greatest problems today is to get children to accept love and authority from the same source."

Because parents have been plied with the notion that they had to be "buddies," and because "authority" has been as naughty a word as "discipline" in the lexicon of some of our latter-day experts, we have a generation of children who have largely been deprived of parental leadership and strength.

WE HAVE PRODUCED a good many wishy-washy parents and an outside crop of child tyrants.

A therapist at the Child Psychiatric Clinic of the Evanston, Ill., Hospital reported, "We have quite a problem with parents who are too long-suffering. They let the child get so bad that he is really unmanageable. We have to help them to be more strict, reasonably so, that is—to be more like parents."

A case worker at the Washington Institute of Mental Hygiene added, "Some parents treat the child as though he were the authority in the home. They react to his every whim, soon giving the child the idea that he is a dictator."

Child dictatorship is just about as bad as any other kind. Our juvenile court judges and our youth bureaus have seen the odious results of it. They have seen parents reduced to flaccid ineffectiveness. In Detroit Juvenile Court, Judge Nathan Kaufman declared: "It is shocking to see parents surrender to their own children. But that is what many of them do. They give up. I've had parents whose youngsters 14 and 15 years old go out on drinking parties in the woods until 2 and 3 in the morning, and the parents come in and say, 'We can't do a thing about it. We just can't handle them.'"

JUDGE KAUFMAN ADDED, "That is what happens when the child becomes boss of the home. Once the child is boss, the home is lost."

Sgt. George Simmon of the Police Youth Bureau in Ann Arbor, Mich., reported, "We have parents come here and push their youngsters through the door and say, 'Here, you handle them. We can't do anything with them.' To this Simmon's reaction is, 'They have had 10 or 15 years to civilize their children and they have failed. Now they expect me to do it in 10 or 15 minutes.'"

I've found little respect among today's psychiatrists and guidance personnel for the parent who allows his children to walk over him. To summarize the reactions I have found: "A parent who lets his child make a fool of him is a fool."

But there is more to the story. This is no mere matter of rescuing parents who have bogged down in their own ineptitude. It is a matter of rescuing children. Wishy-washy parents deprive children of one of their prime developmental needs. They need the vitamin of parental authority as much as any vitamin in their diets. And today's new trend in child care is to see that they get it.

THIS IS NOT TO SAY that the "authoritarian" parent has come back into vogue; far from it. Authoritarianism is the abuse of authority. The parent who uses authority properly does so with love, understanding and fair play. In the well-run family the parent can be boss without being bossy.

"Children feel safer when their parents have strength and authority," declared Director Elizabeth Porter of the Family Service Society of New Orleans. "Our case constantly show us that the child is disappointed when his parents show a lack of authority. His need for parental leadership is shown in the way the child himself invests his parents with authority. He is proud of his father's strength and his mother's wisdom. He wants these qualities to provide a strong home in which he can be safe."

I met with a group of teen-age youngsters in Lincoln Park, Mich., just south of Detroit, and discussed this with them. Their remarks were revealing:

"The trouble today is your Ma says you can't do something and the next minute she changes her mind and lets you do it," one boy said.

"Gosh, no kid can look up to a father whose got a lot of mush where his backbone should be," another chimed in.

A GRINNING REALIST among them added, "If they let us walk all over 'em we're going to. Why shouldn't we?"

The only boy who seemed to feel he had something to boast about was the one who said, "Well, you guys aren't talking about my Pa. When he says something he means it!"

Talk to children anywhere and you will quickly discover that though they may enjoy wrapping their parents around their little fingers—if they can get away with it—still in their hearts they yearn for parents who are strong and stable. They are the first to condemn parents who are too weak to rear their own children.

Why do so many parents abdicate their own authority? I put the question to Director Samuel Whitman of the Cleveland Mental Health Assn. He replied, "Because the exercise of authority takes work, it takes responsibility, and it takes strain. To build parental authority upon a base of affection, a parent must make a real effort."

OTHERS POINTED OUT that to exercise authority requires confidence, and lack of confidence seems to be a parental disease these days. Undoubtedly some of the confidence has been shaken by the experts themselves, who in recent years have too often rung the bell for soft parenthood. They have not wanted parents to expect too much or demand too much of their children.

This tide is turning, too. Director Whitman, while citing the obvious harm in giving nothing to a child and demanding everything, also pointed out, "If the parent gives everything and demands nothing, he fails the child, too. He fails him not only in the personal contract of parenthood—but also in the social contract. It is each parent's duty to society to pass on to his or her children the principle that each of our rights is counterbalanced by an obligation."

This is the point at which parental authority becomes, for the child, the symbol of all the various forms of authority he will encounter later on. If he can walk over his parents he will try the same maneuver later on with his teachers, his employer and perhaps even with his community and government.

"THE ONLY FORM of government is the rule of the strong."

ment the child knows is his parents," commented Juvenile Court Judge Humphrey G. Dukes of Savannah, Ga. "They set the pattern for how he is going to act toward other forms of government later on." If the pattern is one of intractability, rebellion and disrespect for the rights of others, this child is going to be in plenty of hot water eventually.

In its coming of age, child psychology today is less prone to cast away the tested wisdom of all times and more prone to use it as a base on which to build. One psychologist, in making a point, quoted the Bible to me (Proverbs 22:6): "Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it."

The poet Khalil Gibran wrote of parents as "the bows from which your children as living arrows are sent forth." And Gibran noted that even as God, the archer, "loves the arrow that flies so he loves the bow that is stable."

Moral Leadership

One of the reasons why the U. S. presidency has been a hard job to define is the fact it varies according to the men who are doing the job.

The latest variations were brought to the presidency by Dwight D. Eisenhower — and two of them were historic.

More than any predecessor had been able to do, the former supreme commander of Allied forces in Europe during World War II set up a presidential staff to lighten the crushing burden of the presidency. The executive branch of the federal government is better equipped today to carry on its function during the President's enforced absence from duty than it ever was before.

But the executive part of the presidency is its lesser part. Its greater part is moral leadership, a role President Eisenhower has played with singular success.

He has been strengthened in it by his unique concept of himself and his administration as being in but not of politics. He has taken advantage of something no professional politician would admit — that the American people had been fed to the teeth with petty politics under Harry Truman and were looking for reassurance that the United States was bigger than the sum of all its ward heelers and political opportunists.

They found the reassurance by voting for Eisenhower in 1952.

This is where the Eisenhower magic is going to be missed. The executive branch of the federal government could go along indefinitely under the direction of its able administrators. But there is no substitute for the personal touch of the man whose stature has made petty politics in both his own party and the opposition party seem out of place and unworthy of the United States.

The petty politicians will be flexing their muscles in private and peeking into the mirror, to try on some expressions for size just in case.

Dwight Eisenhower is not just another president of the United States. He is a natural leader who has pledged himself to be president of all the people and is big enough to tackle the job without looking like a pygmy.

There haven't been many presidents that big, in case the heart patient in Fitzsimons Hospital out there in Denver wonders about the size of the hole he has created in national and international affairs by being sidelined.

More Than Meets The Ear

There is a hopeful side to the farm issue that will not be mentioned by Gloomy Guses telling farmers that they have been disinherited by Ezra Taft Benson.

Time Magazine speaks of it, and others may find it worth mentioning to offset the campaign to persuade agriculture that it is on its deathbed and can be cured only by some more of the hair of the Democratic donkey that bit it.

It is, first of all, the fact that farmers used their wartime cash-income bonanza to make permanent improvements in their position. Then, when their incomes slumped, so many farmers had given up farming that their per capita decrease was nowhere near as great as the gross decrease for agriculture.

Moreover, the decrease was not spread evenly over all farmers. Most of it piled up against the marginal operator. The efficient farmer is continuing to what he always has been able to do — take the bitter with the better and flabbergasted statisticians who could prove more often than not with figures that he was on the verge of being wiped out.

Natural Momentum

Nationwide interest in President Eisenhower's treatment for a heart attack has released more accurate information about this common malady than otherwise would have been made available by years of public education.

It was inevitable that National Heart Assn. should want to take advantage of the natural momentum given to its campaign, in the same way that Franklin D. Roosevelt's polio affliction helped the campaign to fight that affliction.

A statement by White House Press Secretary Hagerty that no official approval has been given to a "Get Well Ike" money-raising campaign for National Heart Assn. does not cut the probability that the campaign will build up natural momentum. It is understood that the White House, itself, does not take part in such campaigns; there will be no misunderstanding about its position.

Neither will there be any misunderstanding about the policy of National Heart Assn. in relation to the White House. President Eisenhower's heart attack has brought public attention to a focus on this malady. That is what National Heart Assn. is trying to do. It should take full advantage of nationwide interest in the cause and treatment of heart attacks.

West's Opportunity

France Throws Spotlight On Soviet Duplicity

Lawrence

last July by the Russians at Geneva.

Now the mask has been torn away and the Communists have been revealed as the organizers inside the United Nations of an anti-Western bloc of Asian and Arab nations growing out of the Bandung Conference. The vote of 28 to 27 in the United Nations Assembly to throw open to discussion what France considers an internal problem—the disaffection in her colony in Algeria—means that by a majority vote of nations many of which are under totalitarian rule or control, the United States, Great Britain and France have been defeated and made to appear as opposed only to the discussion of the question instead of its implications as a precedent.

On the very same day Moscow was proclaiming her right to sell arms to Egypt and was declaring that any effort to thwart the sale as an interference with the internal affairs of Egypt. Such hypocrisy emphasizes the double standard practiced by the Soviets in trying to get the Algerian issue aired in the United Nations. Antoine Pinay, foreign minister of France, wisely withdrew his delegation. What's more, Pinay doesn't intend to go to Moscow this month as planned and neither does Premier Edgar Faure.

THE FRENCH delegation will go to Geneva for the Big Four Foreign Ministers' Conference but this is in conformity with the desire to present a united front along with Great Britain and the United States as against Soviet Russia.

France is 100 per cent right in her attitude in pulling out of the U.N. sessions. For the U.N. must never be used by a bloc of nations as an instrument of controversy that can provoke a war.

Pinay has a wonderful opportunity to turn the tables on the Russians. He might agree, indeed, to the principle of discussion of Algeria or any other problem of that kind in North Africa if it can be demonstrated that the peace of the world is threatened there, which, of course, is not true.

At the same time the French foreign minister might insist that if the principle of discussing internal affairs is applied, it should be first considered with respect to those nations which have already won their independence and proved themselves capable of self-government but which have lost their liberties and their sovereignty due to usurpation of control by Moscow and by the international Communist party.

Certainly there is little use talking about granting freedom to small colonies in North Africa if, when they get their independence, as in the case of Egypt, they immediately fall prey to the Communist influence in the world and thus increase rather than diminish tension.

THIS HAS JUST happened between Egypt and Israel. As long as Communist totalitarianism exists, the world hasn't been made safe for any democracy.

If the United Nations moreover is to remain true to the principles of its charter it must make sure that all countries which are members are free from threats of aggression. Inevitably Soviet Russia as an aggressor comes up for trial itself. Its record in instigating the Korean War and then in brazenly sending arms and supplies to the Chinese Communists so they could intervene against the United Nations in that war is well known.

The world would have an opportunity to discuss all these subjects if the French government chose now to accept the principle of discussion on condition that priority is given to the many instances of frustration by Moscow of national aspirations in the countries behind the Iron Curtain.

CERTAINLY if Soviet Russia was willing to open up to examination by a United Nations commission all the denials of justice and the enforced slavery of individuals in Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, Poland, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria, and Czechoslovakia there might be something accomplished to rid the world of the worst kind of colonialism that prevails today.

It could be the forerunner of a similar study of the conditions in Asia where countries like Indonesia recently granted independence are still under pressure by Communist blocs within their gates.

By insisting that they will discuss North Africa after the safety of the peoples in the satellite countries of Eastern Europe is assured the French can strike a real blow for human freedom in the propaganda battles of the "cold war."

DESPITE THE SMILES of the Russians during the Geneva Conference and since then in what now appears to be ironically described by Moscow broadcasts as "The Geneva Spirit," the Communists have been increasing the tension in the "cold war." They have exploited the North African situation, forcing French troops to be withdrawn from the continent and thus weakening NATO. They have added fuel to the flames between two allies of the West—Turkey and Greece. Now they have taken sides in the Egypt-Israel controversy by offering to arm Egypt for war. This has increased the tension in the Middle East.

The hoped for "relaxation of tension" in the world, therefore, has been torpedoed by the Moscow government. Hence the opportunities are opened up for the West to place the blame squarely on the Communist intriguers and infiltrators and thus show the oppressed peoples that the West not only has not forgotten them but is alert to the true meaning and purpose behind the Soviet pretense of the so-called doctrine of "peaceful co-existence."

Your Health

By DR. EDWIN P. JORDAN

'Cure' For Eczema

Mrs. O. asks whether there is a cure for eczema. She says it is on her hands only, but it is both painful and aggravating.

Perhaps the question of "cure" can be discussed best by explaining this common term. "Eczema" has been used to describe a all kinds of skin trouble for innumerable years. Yet, I believe that now it should apply only to that skin condition which is the result of contact between the skin and some irritating substance.

This is most frequently known as dermatitis venenata. True eczema, therefore, is not the result of infection of disease elsewhere in the body. It is a kind of allergy or sensitivity of the skin to something which comes in direct contact with it.

Generally speaking, eczema, when it first starts, appears as a simple redness of the skin. If the irritation has been severe, the skin may show blisters or even small pus pockets. After a while the redness and other sign of inflammation may give way to chronic symptoms.

Eczema shows up on those parts of the body which have rubbed against the irritating substance. For this reason the hands, face and legs are more common locations than those parts of the skin protected by clothing.

Often the skin burns or itches even before it shows redness. The itching often results in scratching, which injures the skin still further.

The list of substances which can cause eczema is almost unlimited. "Eczema" from poison ivy is a typical example. Hair dyes, face powders, shampoos, tincture of iodine, weeds, the dye in clothing and more rarely the ink of comic strips, match boxes and almost every substance known to be used in industry have been at one time or another blamed for eczema.

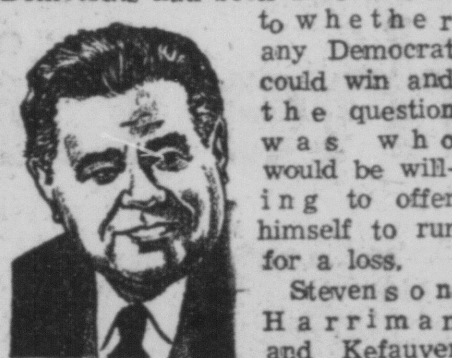

Finding the cause is often extremely difficult. Sometimes it requires real detective ability on the part of the doctor. Many skin specialists feel that self-treatment makes their job much harder than it should be.

Wide Open Race

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

President Eisenhower's illness has opened the door to a galaxy of candidates in both parties. The Democrats had been uncertain as to whether any Democrat could win and the question was who would be willing to offer himself to run for a loss.

Steven S. Harriman and Kefauver seemed to be the only candidates available with Harriman in the lead. Now that there is a definite possibility of the Democrats winning in 1956, the campaign is wide open.

More and more the name of Gov. Frank Lausche is heard and for second place, it is clear that the Southerners will insist on a candidate and the name of Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee is constantly being heard.

AMONG REPUBLICANS, three California names assert themselves, Vice President Richard Nixon, Sen. William Knowland, and Chief Justice Earl Warren. From now on a number of other names will be mentioned, including Thomas E. Dewey who has twice run and been defeated and Harold Stassen who is always a candidate, for what reason no one can say.

Richard Nixon has the advantage of being vice president on the verge of the presidency by disability, resignation or death. Not even a physician can, at this moment, foretell with any assurance that the President will live during the next 15 months although many who have had coronary thromboses survive to be very active men.

Roosevelt was President and ran for a fourth term after he had had more severe difficulties with his heart than President Eisenhower has suffered.

SHOULD NIXON take over the presidency, he will probably be nominated. The story from Washington is that in the White House entourage Sherman Adams, who is most effective, is protecting President Eisenhower's prerogatives.

and that he has prevented the formation of a cabal to manipulate politically in the President's name. The report is that the cabal that was forming included Harold Stassen, Nelson Rockefeller and Milton Eisenhower. As it stands, Richard Nixon has the inside track.

Chief Justice Earl Warren has publicly stated that he will not run for elective office. In his present position, he cannot lift a finger to indicate that he intends to run. It is noteworthy that his name is being brought forward not by Republicans but by New Deal columnists who have never favored a Republican candidate for the presidency.

This does considerable damage to Warren's standing with Democrats. It is not believed by Republican professionals that his chances are very good or that they should be.

SENATOR KNOWLAND represents the views of the major elements within the party. He could be accepted by those Eisenhower Republicans who do not favor Nixon and by those Taft Republicans who do not forget that Sen. Taft selected Knowland as his successor. Knowland's chances are on a par with Nixon's in a free convention.

Stassen is not taken seriously by professional Republicans although he continues to have a following in the rank and file of the party. While it has been assumed that President Eisenhower has favored

Nixon, it is no secret that he has also favored Stassen. On the other hand, when, some time ago, Stassen tried to push into Dulles' position as secretary of state, the President protected Dulles and turned down proposals to replace him with Stassen. His candidacy is not being taken seriously.

Some time ago, Roscoe Drummond, a columnist close to the White House, proposed Dr. Milton Eisenhower as the President's successor. The proposal proved to be a dud. At that time it was not known that the President was a cardiac who had already consulted specialists, including a distinguished New York physician.

NOW THAT the President's illness is a public fact, the name of Milton Eisenhower is again heard. But it is not being taken seriously within the Republican party in which he has never been active. In fact, he is generally assumed to be closer to the group in the Democratic party headed by Adlai Stevenson, as he was long associated with the Roosevelt and Truman administrations.

The form of nepotism represented by this suggestion has never been popular in American political life, although some American widows have succeeded their husbands in the House of Representatives.

This is where the excitement has gone thus far. Between now and next July, this picture will change many times, particularly as a result of Tom Dewey's manipulations.

Watching The Stocks

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—American stock markets are watched today by millions of persons around the world who don't own a share of stock. Why?

Because they feel in their bones that broad trends of stock prices may tell them what will happen to their business, their job, their savings, their prospects.

Others say: "So what? I don't own any stock." They may dismiss the daily ups and downs of stock prices as the mere carrying on of speculators—the pros who constantly are in and out of the market looking for a fast buck. The detractors hold that the old tradition of the market's importance as a barometer or as a direct influence on business is outdated.

But the way the market rates the shares of one corporation, or of most corporations, still can be of real importance to many people. Workers get nervous if the price of their company's stock continues to sink. So does the board of directors.

Price weakness could mean—although not necessarily—that stock traders believe either that management is lax, or that the company's products are slipping in public favor, or that its competitive position is being undermined by rivals.

If the stocks of an entire industry rise or fall, it may be the public's first intimation that the economic pattern is changing. This can affect job and earnings prospects, or telegraph a blow to a entire community or region.

When the entire market mills around the way it did last week, with a sharp break followed by rallies and hesitance, it could mean either one of two things:

1. That the world and domestic political situation is such a touch-and-go affair that the health of one man, the President of the States, could color overnight the prospects of good times or bad, of peace or conflict.

2. That the public is already nervous about "how high is up", and is farsome that stock prices are due for a revaluation anyway.

In either case the initial impact is psychological. It tends to make some individuals think twice about their own plans. Paper profits take on the look of tissue.

New York merchants report that in the past a bear market has coincided with a slump in store sales. Elsewhere in the nation this is much less likely, since New York seems more prone to emotional up and downs about business.

When last week's sharp market break didn't turn out to be "an other 1929" as a few may have feared, there was great and obvious relief.

This relief was felt by the many Americans who don't own stock and don't stand to make or lose a dollar immediately. But many of them felt that a prolonged market break would make their employers nervous, cut work schedules, perhaps imperil jobs. The market's rally the following day just as surely reassured many that the economy appeared sound to the investing segment of the public.

PTA Supports 150-Million Bond

Funds Would Be Used
To Construct Schools

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers has gone on record as favoring a proposed constitutional amendment for a 150 million dollar state bond issue. The money would be used for public buildings including schools in financially distressed areas.

The bond issue endorsement came at yesterday's opening business session of the group's 50th annual convention. The proposal will be on the Nov. 8 election ballot.

Last night, Mrs. Rollin Brown of Los Angeles, National Congress president, delivered the keynote address.

The convention also agreed to split into two districts its most populous district which covers Cuyahoga, Summit and Medina Counties.

The old north district was divided into a new north district, covering most of Cuyahoga County and all of Medina County, a north lake district. The latter includes Summit County and East Cleveland, Euclid, Cleveland Heights, Shaker Heights, Maple Heights, Garfield Heights, Bedford, South Euclid and Lyndhurst in Cuyahoga County.

Today the convention votes on a slate of officers. Only one post is contested—third vice president—for which Mrs. Silas J. Young of Suffield was nominated from the floor to oppose Mrs. Donald Crockett, Cleveland, chosen by the group's nominating committee.

Here were 1,058 delegates registered yesterday for the convention which is expected to attract 2,200 before its conclusion tomorrow.

Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, New York City minister, will be the main speaker at tonight's general meeting.

A mixture of coal and water will be moved through the line. At Eastlake, the coal will be dried for use by the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio) says the Fund For The Republic is no longer objective as it was originally intended.

He told the America Bakers Assn. convention the fund's purpose "is to criticize those who are critical of the Communists." In his prepared text, Bricker called the fund "a creature of the Ford Foundation" and said the fund is "promoting an insidious doctrine of ethical neutrality." But he eliminated those remarks from his speech.

German Police Dogs May Be Solution To Police Shortage

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Four German shepherd dogs, which, at a command will jump through a plate glass window, are being used in an experiment that may prove the solution to the shortage of police officers in many of the nation's communities.

The experiment, first of its kind in city police work according to Commissioner Marguerite C. Johnson of Dearborn, Mich., is being conducted in her city of 120,000.

"Instead of having two policemen on a beat, we can send out a dog and an officer," she said. "The dog, if commanded, will jump through a plate glass window, flush out a suspect and disarm him, enter a burning building to search for victims, scale a 14-foot fence and stand guard."

Mrs. Johnson, who is the nation's only woman police commissioner, is attending the 62nd annual International Assn., of Chiefs of Police Conference here. A grandmother, she also is commissioner of the Fire and Communications Department.

"So far," she said, "we think the experiment is terrific."

"The dogs, who also travel in patrol cars, could save many officers' lives," she said. "If a man is armed with a knife or gun or is holed up somewhere the dog will find him, flush him out, disarm him and then guard him until the officer arrives."

"And officers get no sass when they are patrolling with a dog. Everybody respects them."

She recalled how a dog held four men at bay while an officer left him and walked down a long block to call for a patrol car. When he returned, she said, the men hadn't budget an inch.

Commissioner Johnson brought one of the dogs, Sgt. Orvie, with her to the convention. Like all the dogs, he is perfectly gentle unless commanded by his officer or trainer to flush out a quarry or attack.

Sgt. Orvie registered at the convention by sticking his paw dipped in ink on an application blank.

Vote Tomorrow On Strike At Ohio Edison

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—The CIO Utility Workers Union plans meetings in seven cities tomorrow to decide whether to strike against the Ohio Edison Co.

The union already has posted pickets at three Ohio Edison Co. plants, which the union says are supplying power to the Pennsylvania Power Co. The union struck the Pennsylvania company, an Ohio Edison subsidiary, three days ago in a dispute over wages.

Workers refused to cross the picket lines at the three Ohio Edison plants, but supervisors continued operations and power was not curtailed. The picketed plants are at Warren, Shadyside and Toronto.

Tomorrow's meetings will be held in Shadyside, Toronto, Warren, Youngstown, Akron, Lorain and Marion, the union said.

Far-Reaching Affects Of Action Seen

Indictment Against Professor For Contempt Of House Killed

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—An assistant U. S. district attorney believes there will be far reaching effects of a federal court decision dismissing an indictment against a college professor for contempt of a house subcommittee.

Robert M. Metcalf, a professor at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, was indicted last February for refusing to answer questions before the House Un-American Activities Subcommittee. Yesterday, U. S. District Judge Lester L. Cecil dismissed the indictment.

James E. Rambo, assistant U. S. district attorney, noting that similar cases are pending in various districts, said:

"It is not unreasonable to believe the Department of Justice will evolve a uniform policy with respect to prosecution of these contempt cases."

Cecil's ruling said the nature of the subcommittee inquiry should have been stated in the indictment "with more particularity."

It concluded: "The indictment is insufficient by reason of fact it does not allege all the essential elements of the crime."

Metcalf admitted to the subcommittee here in September, 1954, that he had been a Communist for a short time. But he declined to name fellow members of the party "on moral grounds."

The court ruling is expected to affect the case of Le Lorch who appeared before the subcommittee with Metcalf. Lorch, at the time a teacher at Fisk College, Nashville, Tenn., also was indicted for contempt for refusing to answer questions.

Lorch's attorney, Fyke Farmer, said last night in Nashville that Judge Cecil already has sustained his request for a bill of particulars and that he will await the bill before deciding his next move. The move might be a motion to dismiss Lorch's indictment based upon the ruling in Metcalf's case, he said.

Elizabeth McBane Becomes Bride Of Willard K. Hall

With a background setting of seven branch candelabra placed on each side of the altar banked with palms and two flowing baskets of white mums, Miss Elizabeth Ann

McBane became the bride of Willard Kingsford Hall in a double ring ceremony Saturday in the First Presbyterian Church.

Rev. A. Laten Carter, pastor, united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vance Robert McBane of 1158 Cleveland St. and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Johnson Hall of Oswego, N. Y.

Organ selections included "I Love You Truly," "You'll Never Walk Alone," "The Lord's Prayer," "Because," "O Perfect Love," and the traditional bridal march.

The bride wore a street length gown of dior blue taffeta with three-quarter length sleeves and a scalloped neckline with seed pearls. She carried a white Bible with a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis, and wore matching accessories. Her father gave her in marriage.

Mrs. William Fairchild was matron of honor for her sister in a dress of royal blue silk with three-quarter length sleeves and a pleated square neckline. Mrs. Fairchild carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Best man was Ralph Bates Jr. of Geneva, N.Y., brother-in-law of the bridegroom. John Schuller Jr. of Niles was an usher.

Miss Amy Fairchild, niece of the bride, wore a navy and pink taffeta dress and carried a miniature basket filled with white pom-poms.

United Local High School Dedication Set For Sunday

United Local High School, Columbiana County's biggest rural high school, will be dedicated Sunday at 2 p.m., Dale W. Gates of Lisbon, superintendent, announces.

Located on Rt 9, a mile south of New Garden, the building adjoins the elementary school completed in 1951. Located on a 103 acre tract, the schools draw 800 students from a 75-mile square area, including all of Hanover Twp., the biggest part of Butler Twp., and the western sections of Salem and Center Twps.

United Local voters passed a $444,000 bond issue for the new school which was completed early this fall and held its first classes Sept. 5. A class of 78 freshmen entered in September, and Gates anticipates a high school enrollment of 300 by 1958. United Local students who attended out-of-district high schools last year are continuing at those buildings.

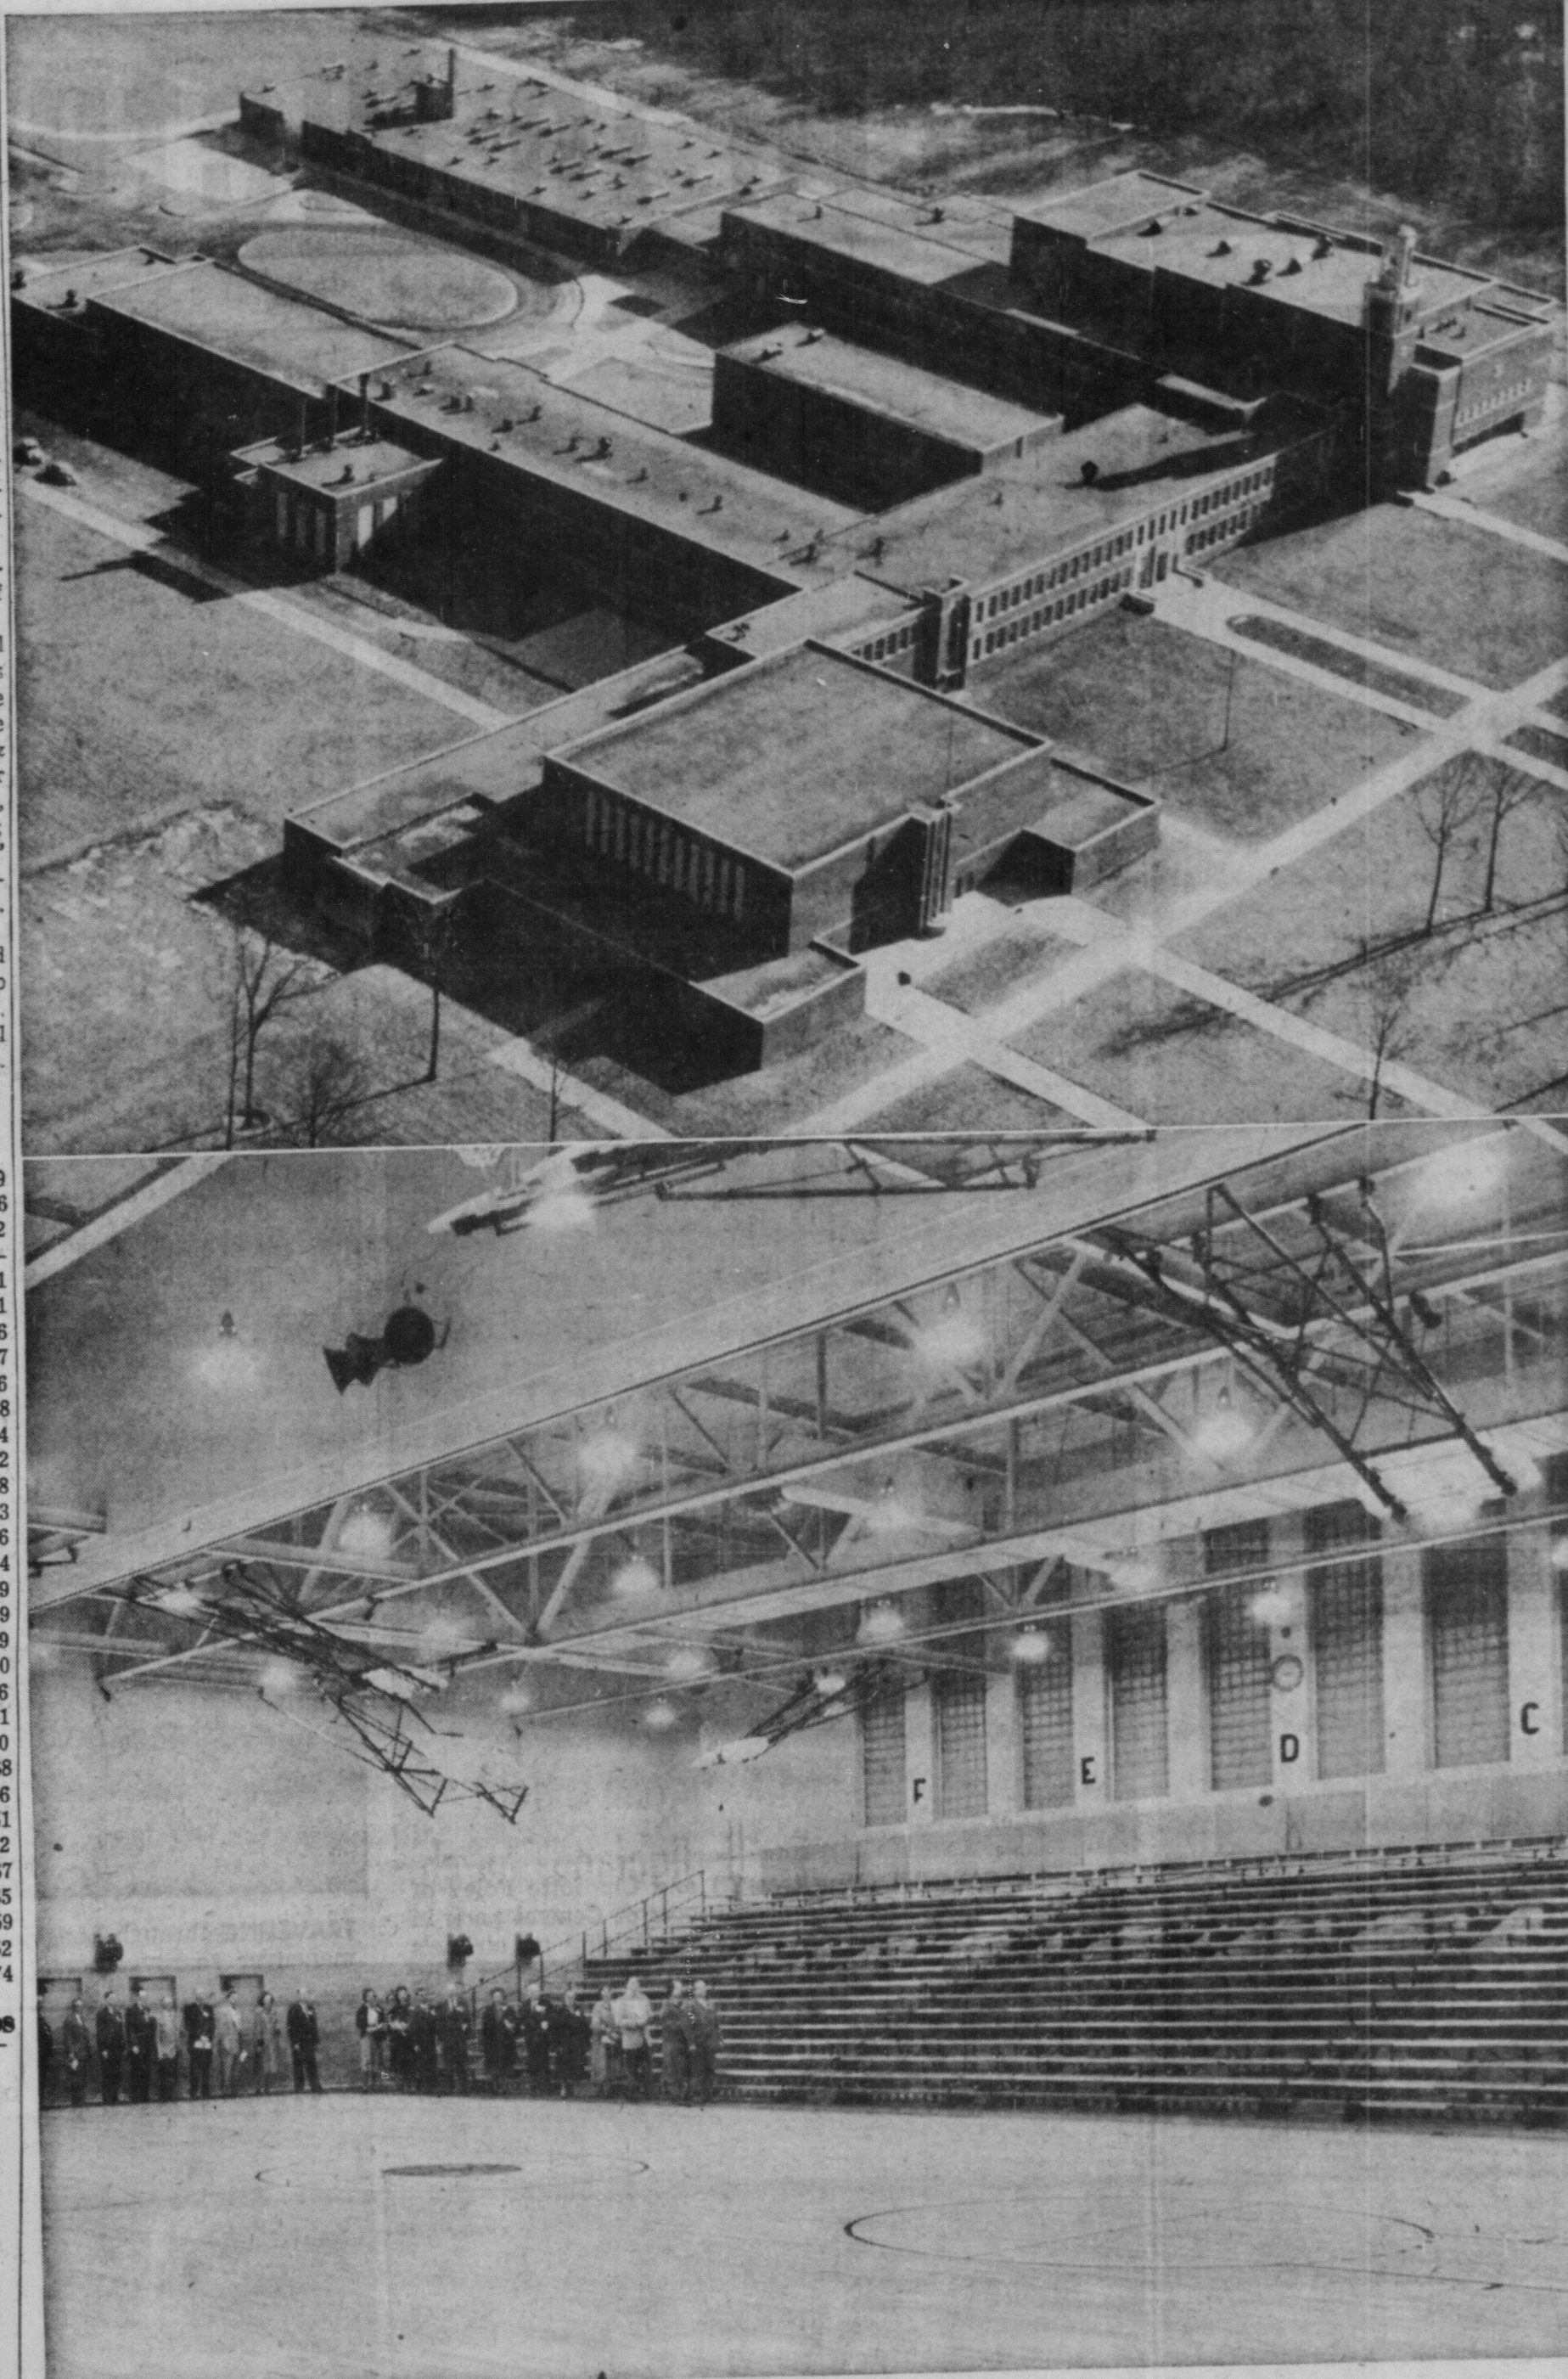

R. M. Garrison, elementary supervisor for the state department of education, will give the main speech. A tour of the building, designed by Kling & Frost, Youngstown architectural firm, will follow. The program of dedication follows:

Invocation, the Rev. Paul Brantingham of Winona Friends Church; "To The Colors," followed by the Star Spangled Banner; United School Band directed by Leo Lohr; presentation of flag, Commander Arthur Kibler of Hoverton Le-pine - Rush Post 684, American Legion, assisted by the color guard; acceptance of flag, John Brenner, vice president of the board of education.

Selections by United School Choir. Lohr directing; greetings and presentation of guests by the superintendent; presentation of the building, Walter Frost of Kling & Frost; acceptance of building for school and community purposes, Elmer R. Stamp, board president; address of dedication; "America," United School Band, and benediction, the Rev. L. Don Neumeister, of Kensington Christian Church.

Other members of the United board of education besides Stamp and Brenner are Homer Doerr, clerk, Howard Blanchard, Daniel P. Furey and Orlan E. Weingart.

THE PARMA HIGH SCHOOL, shown in the above aerial photo, was designed and its construction supervised by Fulton, Krinsky & Dela Motte, the Cleveland architectural firm which the Salem Board of Education has employed to draw up plans and specifications for a new senior high school in Salem if the board's $2,385,000 bond issue is approved at the polls Nov. 8.

The Parma High School, built in 1953 and described by many educators as "the queen of high schools," cost twice the amount of the proposed Salem bond issue. It houses twice as many students. The spacious gymnasium in the Parma school is shown in the bottom photo. The gym utilizes a soundproof, electrically-operated partition and telescopic type bleachers, seating 1,800 persons.

The Salem gymnasium will seat 2,000, Architect Krinsky told Salem Board of Education members last night.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

For some years now the nation's waterfronts have had a "mystery man" as well as the muscle men who cast this country's millions of dollars.

I've trailed the "mystery man" along the eastern docks. I've printed his address and telephone number. I've reported that this man of various names has refused to deny under oath that he was "engaged in any subversive activities against this nation." And that he has refused to deny that he was "an agent of the Russian government either directly or indirectly."

Now it can be reported that officially and on the record he is an agent of Harry Bridges' International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, which has so much influence on the west coast and in Hawaii with its great military and naval bases.

I could cite many names for the "mystery man." For the record here, he is Irving Velson, who will be found listed in authentic and sober congressional committee testimony as the man whom the Communists hoped to make "secretary of defense if ever they took over."

I AM CONCERNED little here about the members of the Communists' shadow cabinet. I am much concerned, however, about the men who lurk in the shadows of our major ports, where knowledge and observance of what is shipped abroad by our military, naval and commercial people is sufficient to provide clues to some of America's innermost secrets.

Irving Velson is one of the men who lurk in and out of these shadows. He has been seen in the company of the toughest waterfront crowd. He has advised them on strategy.

And all the while he has been

Harry Bridges' union's international representative. Thus Velson is authorized to act in behalf of a union which enjoys full protection of the vast body of legislation designed to protect union rights.

Why did Harry Bridges' union hire such a man?

WHO WAS LIAISON between Velson and the Bridges' union, which sits astride some of our most strategic defense lines?

Why was Velson hired as an international representative and paid to work on the racket-ridden east coast? What is his specific assignment?

Why is there no outcry by the west coast rank-and-file longshoremen over their money going to pay a man who refused to deny that he worked for a Russian master spy.

The master spy's name is Peters. He was Whitaker Chambers' boss.

ON SEPT. 26, 1951, a Senate attorney asked Irving Velson, under oath, the following question:

"I put it to you as a fact that, while you were in the armed forces of the government, you were chief assistant to Alexander Stevens, also known as J. Peters, in the placing of Communist party members in the armed forces and ask you to affirm or deny that fact."

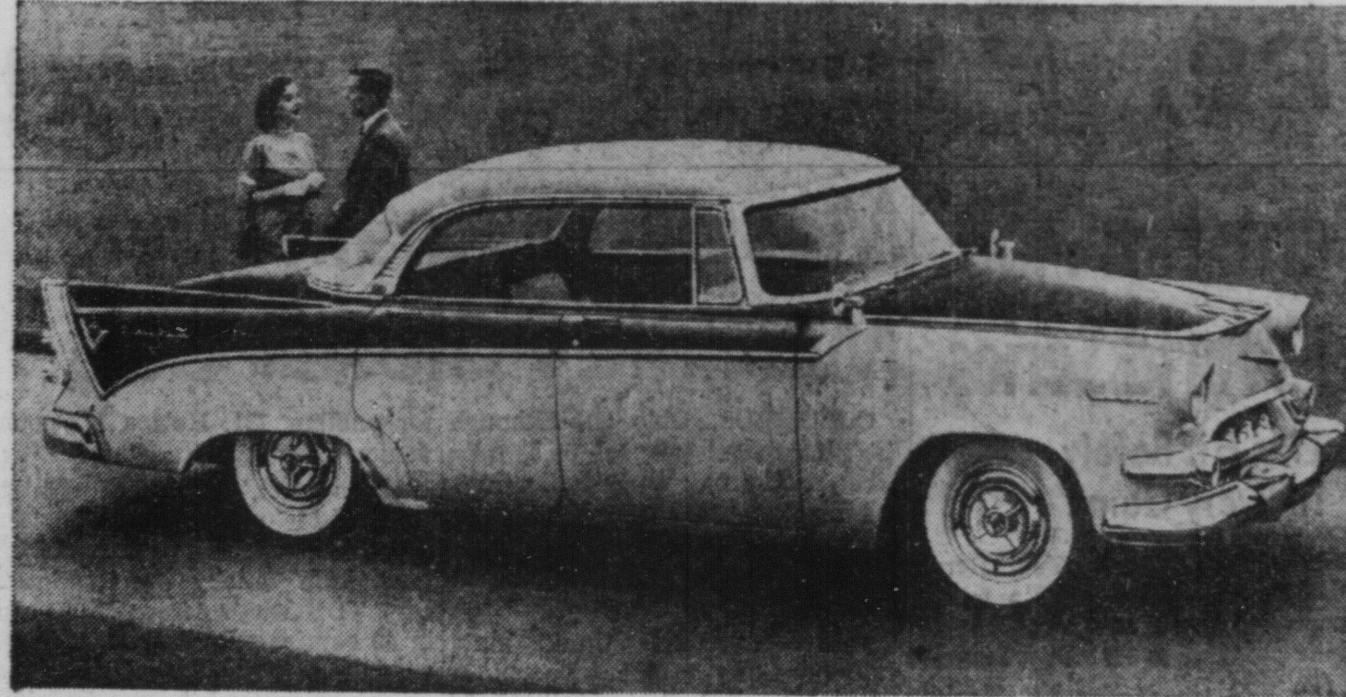

Velson's answer was:

"I decline to answer that question on the grounds previously stated (the Fifth Amendment). I served in the U.S. Navy from October 1944 until I was honorably discharged in 1946, sometime."

Incidentally Velson was placed in some spots in the Navy which were sensitive. He got in, although he was thrown out of the Brooklyn Navy Yard in 1939.

THAT LEADS to another very interesting question asked of Velson.

"Is it not true that while you were employed at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, Alexander Stevens, also known as J. Peters, used

NEW DODGE OUT FRIDAY—The new 1953 line of Dodge passenger cars will be introduced to the public Friday. The four-door hardtop is pictured above. Viewers of the new cars were promised the first glimpse of a new era in automotive design—both in exterior and interior appearance and in mechanical advancements.

Outstanding among mechanical improvements is the new "Magic Touch" push-button drive selector which eliminates the necessity for any kind of a gear-shift or drive control lever. Forward-pointing body shapes and moldings, tastefully proportioned hood, body and deck areas, gracefully tapering hood and front fenders, and the wide, slightly swept-back effect of the divided grille, all combine to give sleekness and tautness of line and a distinct feeling of motion to the new Dodge cars. The Dodge Super Red Ram V-8 engine has been upped to a total displacement of 315 cubic inches, resulting in increased power and torque. Horsepower is up to 218.

Massillon Officer Dies During Rescue Attempt

LAS CRUCES, N. M. (AP)—The death of Army Lt. John G. Armour, 23, of Massillon, Ohio, who fell while trying to rescue another officer from a mountain crag, was pronounced accidental yesterday by a coroner's jury.

Armour was killed last Saturday when he slipped from a slick rope on Organ Peak near here. He was trying to rescue 2nd Lt. James R. Looman, Tacoma, Wash., who had fallen 150 feet to a mountain crag while climbing the peak with two other officers.

Looman was "progressing satisfactorily" at an El Paso, Tex., Army hospital.

Armour, a graduate of Carnegie Tech, was stationed at White Sands Proving Ground near here. His body will be returned to Ohio. Survivors include his father, James D. Armour.

Cohen in 1951 was sentenced to five years and fined $10,000 for evading $156,123 in taxes for 1946-48. He has accumulated 480 days credit for good behavior but unless the fine was paid he would have had to take a pauper's oath or serve 30 days more.

October!

By HAL BOYLE

Editor's Note: The following column, a seasonal favorite with many readers, is being sent out again because of the nice weather—and the fact the author says a man can write about October only once in his lifetime.)

NEW YORK (AP)—If the Lord whispered in your secret heart that you had but one month to live and let you pick that month, which would you choose? I'd say October.

The birds love it, the beasts love it, and man himself then stands upon the summit of the year.

October is all the other seasons wrapped into a 31-day grab-bag package, tied with a rainbow ribbon. It is the period when Mother Nature, the great dramatist,

40-Hour Week Won't Affect Patrol Service

There will be no major changes in the operation or services of the State Highway Patrol when the 40-hour week for state employees goes into effect Oct. 11, Lieutenant W. B. Umpleby, commander of the Warren district headquarters, revealed today.

"There will be some reduction in the amount of services in certain instances but it will have no effect on the overall operation," he said.

The 40-hour week will mean a decrease of about 12 actual working hours a week for most corporals and patrolmen. It will also eliminate "reserve time."

Under present working hours men are on duty at least 10 hours a day five days a week but must remain at their homes during time off to answer calls from the desk man at their post. However, under the 40-hour week the men will not be required to remain at their homes and will be subject to call only in the event of an emergency.

Colonel George Mingle, superintendent, said that there will be "no definite plan set for each of the 57 posts over the state." He said local problems will dictate the shifts to be set up for men patrolling the highways.

He also revealed that civilian personnel will be hired to help some posts maintain services. He authorized posts with eight men or less to hire one civilian for desk work and said more civilian personnel will be hired when the Patrol budget permits.

Hiring of civilian personnel for posts with limited manpower also will make possible the continuation of 24-hour service, he said.

The superintendent said an effort would be made to hire members of trained patrol auxiliary who donate their time to aid officers in traffic work as well as emergency assignments.

Down On The Farm
Making Farm Pond

Daniel Saling of the West Point Grovers Road, who has been a co-operator of the Columbiana district since 1943, is constructing a pond at his farm for livestock water and fire protection. The pond, covering a 25 acre area, is ideally located near all buildings for fire protection. It is situated so that livestock water may flow into the pasture by gravity or be pumped into the barn.

Multiflora Rose Hedge
Dike Beede of Lisbon RD 3, (Elkrun Township), also a soil conservation cooperators, is more than happy with his multiflora rose hedge. Planted across a slope in an open field, the hedge not only provides cover for wildlife, but also doubles as a soil-erosion barrier.

Plenty of Water
Work done at the farm of Frank Trotter of East Liverpool RD 2 (St. Clair Township) is another example of what can be done in the conservation field. Trotter reports his new pond, built last year below a hillside seep, keeps his cattle well supplied with water. Use of plastic pipe and a simple float valve keeps the water tank filled, he says.

Last winter freezing weather did not interfere with his water supply system, Trotter says. Before the pond was built, he adds, the seep was inadequate for his needs.

Yanks Tie Series; Byrne, Podres To Pitch Finale Today

Ford Hurls For 5-1 Victory

Snider Injures Leg, May Not Play Today

NEW YORK (AP)—A pair of winning left-handers, aging Tommy Byrne of New York and youthful Johnny Podres of Brooklyn, carried the World Series hopes of their respective clubs today as the Yankees and Dodgers came to grips in the seventh and deciding game for the championship of the world.

The pendulum, which has been swinging back and forth, first favoring one team then the other, definitely had swayed toward the Yankees, in quest of their 17th world title.

Not only did the American League have the benefit of their own Yankee Stadium, where they have beaten the Brooks three straight, but this time it was the Dodgers who were sortly beset by crippling injuries.

The odds-makers, who have called the turn in each of the six previous games when the teams they tabbed as favorites all came through, have made the Yankees 7-5 favorites to win today's game.

The weatherman's prediction was "fair and mild" with the temperature in the low 70s.

This was the second series start for both Byrne and Podres. Byrne, 35, fired a five-hitter to win the second game, and Podres, 23, brought the Brooks back to life with a seven-hitter in the third game.

"I'll have everybody else in the bullpen," vowed Manager Walter Alton of the Dodgers, a statement echoed by Casey Stengel, the Yankee skipper.

Monday's 5-1 Yankee victory, which deadlocked the classic at three victories apiece, was a stunning blow to the Dodgers in more ways than one. Not only was young Karl Spooner shelved from the mound before he could retire two batters, but Duke Snider, the slugging star of the series so far, suffered a severe knee injury which forced him out of the game after only one time at bat.

The center field star, who has hit four home runs in this series, wrenched his left knee while chasing a fly ball hit by Bill Skowron in the third inning. Up to several hours before game time, it was uncertain whether Snider would be in shape to play today.

Jackie Robinson was another Dodger mainstay on the doubtful list. He aggravated a pulled tendon in the back of his left foot and the injury slowed him up perceptibly Monday.

Alton optimistically expected Snider and Robinson to play.

"If they do, it will be the same lineup that we started today," he said. "If not, we'll have to wait and see."

The Yankees, too, expected to start the same lineup that won Monday. Hank Bauer, back after a three-day layoff because of a leg injury, chipped in with three hits. He said he strained his leg running to first in the fifth inning.

"But I'll play Tuesday," said the hustling outfielder, "even if I have to do it on one leg. I don't want to miss the big one."

Mickey Mantle, the other Yankee convalescent, was not expected to play, according to Manager Stengel, except in a pinch hit role.

The Yankees didn't need any help from Mantle Monday as they struck quickly, knocking Spooner out with a stunning five run attack before the young southpaw knew what had hit him. Skowron capped the lightning assault hit a three-run homer after Yogi Berra and Bauer each had singled over one runner.

After that the game was entirely in the strong left hand of Whitey Ford, who never faltered. He pitched the finest game of the series, and probably his best of the year as he handcuffed the Dodgers with four singles to record his second series triumph. He struck out eight and permitted only four fly balls to be hit to the outfield.

The Dodgers again got fine relief pitching after the game was lost, the third time this has happened. Russ Meyer, the forgotten man of the staff, rushed in after Skowron crashed the ball into the right field seats and blanked the Yanks on four singles in five and two third innings. Ed Roebuck added two more scoreless innings in the eighth.

Mack's Condition Good

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Connie Mack, 92, was reported resting comfortably today at Presbyterian Hospital, four days after he fell from his bed and fractured a hip.

His doctor said Monday that he was satisfied with Mack's general condition. Mack is former owner-manager of the Philadelphia Athletics.

FORD, JONES RELEASED

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns yesterday released half-back Henry Ford from the University of Pittsburgh and tackle Tom Jones from Miami of Ohio to cut their roster to the limit of 33 players.

DOUBLE PLAY—Gil Hodges of the Dodgers is forced at second as Jackie Robinson grounds into a double play in second inning of sixth World Series game at Yankee Stadium. The play went from Bill Skowron (not shown) to Billy Martin to Bill Skowron. Ump is Frank Dascoli; Jake Pitler is Dodger coach. Yankees won, 5-1 to send series into seventh game.

Salem Reserves Defeat Boardman

The Salem Reserves, showing good signs of things to come in the future, scored seven points in the first quarter and were never headed as they rolled over the Boardman Reserves 19-6 at Reilly Stadium last night.

Halfback Larry Hepler scored two of his team's touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters.

In the third period he skirted right end for 15 yards to paydiant back over the goal line off tackle from five yards out in the final stanza.

Salem's first touchdown came in the first quarter as Halfback Bill Schuster plunged over off tackle from one yard out. Benny Jones kicked the extra point.

Boardman's lone tally came in the second period after they recovered a Salem fumble on the locals 30 yard line.

Last night's win makes the Reserves record 1-1 for the season thus far. In their first outing, the local Reserves were trounced by the Goshen Union varsity 44-0.

According to Coach Ben Barrett the performances shown by the reserve strength last night gives good indications of powerful football for Salem in the next few years.

Hepler scored playing as they did last night, Barrett said, they may be moved up to positions on the varsity yet this year.

Barrett was high in his praise of freshman fullback Walter Good. The 180-pound ground gainer gave an explosive demonstration of running for a freshman, Barrett said.

Salem 7 0 6 6-19
Boardman 0 6 0 0-6

Salem scoring — touchdowns — Hepler (2), Schuster. Extra point: Jones, placement.

Yank shortstop Phil Rizzuto wasn't too happy about playing today's game — because of all things, he doesn't want to break Joe DiMaggio's record of having played in 51 World Series games.

"I'm dying to keep playing," said Rizzuto, "but it just doesn't seem right to break any record held by DiMaggio. I only wish we could have wrapped it up Monday so I could have settled for a tie. But I don't think DiMag would mind."

Hank Bauer, who reinjured his bad right leg running out a ground Monday, admitted he didn't feel so good.

"It hurts like the devil," said the ex-Marine, "but there's only one more day, so I guess I can make it."

There's a budding feud brewing between Brook catcher Roy Campanella and second baseman Junior Gilliam over the latter's failure to cover the bag on Rizzuto's steal Monday. Campy had to hold the ball until it was too late to nab the Scooter.

"I had the ball ready to throw, but there was no one to throw it to," snapped Campy.

Gilliam seemed to be in time," he said, "but I shortened up on the batter (Billy Martin) so I could go straight over without leaving a hole. I think the ball got caught in Campy's glove."

Stengel, by the way, refused to compare Snider with DiMaggio or Mantle, but when someone brought up Ted Williams, the old professor observed:

"Williams would spit at some of the balls Snider goes for."

Washington manager Chuck Dressen holds a daily conference with Stengel discussing Brooklyn weaknesses.

Speaking of Snider, Stengel commented that "that fella they got in center field, he ain't lookin' to walk get bunted to second and steal third and home. No, sir, he's goin' for four all the time — and my young pitchers better find that out."

Berra Hits .450 In World Series

Has Hit Safely In Every Game

NEW YORK (AP)—Yogi Berra must be wondering what a fellow has to do to get his name in the papers. Whitey Ford, Tommy Byrne and Duke Snider steal the World Series headlines while Yogi jogs along at a .450 pace.

When Ford pitches or Byrne pitches, the reporters come nosing around Berra's locker, asking: "What was his best pitch?" They don't pay too much attention to the Yankee catcher's nine base hits.

It just so happens that Yogi now has caught more World Series games than anybody in the long history of baseball. When he squats behind home plate to receive Byrnes first pitch this afternoon, it will be his 40th game in seven series.

Berra is the only player on either side to hit safely in every game. Snider was right up there with him until he had to retire in Monday's game with a knee injury after striking out once.

Series play isn't supposed to count in the voting for most valuable player. The ballots are supposed to have been made out before the end of the season. But most of the Yanks will tell you privately that Yogi should get the big prize for the second straight year.

DeMarco Wins Split Decision Over Lane

NEW YORK (AP)—Former lightweight champion Paddy DeMarco, elated over his victory over Kenny Lane, today sought a shot with the other top-ranking contenders in the 135-pound rank.

Currently unranked, the 22-year-old Brooklyn toughie climbed a step up the comeback ladder Monday night by gaining a split 10-round decision over Lane at St. Nicholas arena.

Lane, 23, of Muskegon, Mich., is the No. 6 contender. He had a winning streak of 10.

Lane weighed 140½, DeMarco 141 for the televised bout. Beaten in July by Ralph Dupas, the No. 2 contender, DeMarco was no ball of fire even in victory.

New Orleans — Willie Pastrano, 17½, New Orleans outpointed Paddy Young, 17½, New York, 10, 10 passes for 133 yards and ran

For a five-run first inning cushion, the slightly-built lefty cowed Brooklyn's bench — busting bats with sharp breakers and excellent control.

"I'm never comfortable out there against the Dodgers," Whitey said. "With all that right-hand hitting strength, they're mighty rough on southpaws. Personally, I think they're tougher from top to bottom in the order than either the Cleveland Indians or Chicago White Sox, the hardest to get out in the American League."

Massillon Again First; McKinley Closes Gap

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Although the high school grid season is only three weeks old, early indications are that the Ohio title may hinge on the Massillon-Canton McKinley game the afternoon of Nov. 19, at Canton.

Massillon's seven-time state champs clung to the top spot in the Associated Press poll of 30 sports editors today, but Wade Watts' McKinley Bulldogs—showing the state's best offense and defense among the top 10, closed the gap a bit.

A week ago Tom Harp's Tigers led by 41 points on the 10-9-8 etc. voting basis, but the edge was only 30 this time and promised to narrow.

McKinley, with a 52-0 conquest of Toledo Scott Saturday night, has piled up 169 points to none for the foe. Previous wins were 71-0 over Cleveland Lincoln, and 46-0 over Warren Harding.

Massillon avenged its lone 1954 loss Friday night with a 22-6 win over Mel Knowlton's Alliance Aviators, with a crowd of 13,258 looking on.

Several changes popped up in the ratings this week. Third-place Mansfield was bumped to ninth as the Tigers dropped a 13-0 decision to Hamilton, and the Big Blue protégé of Chuck Thackara moved to the vacated spot.

Springfield ran over Portsmouth 32-12 to take fourth, and East Liverpool, winner over unscored-on New Philadelphia by a surprising 27-7, moved into fifth. New Philly, seventh last week, dropped to the also-ran list.

Dayton Roosevelt, 33-14 victor over Chamaine, jumped from ninth to sixth, and Columbus East moved up a notch to seventh with a 26-0 triumph over Ironton. Toledo DeWitt graduated from 10th to 8th with a 42-7 win over Toledo Waite. Tenth place wound up in a tie between Cleveland Benedictine 59-7 winner over East Tech, and Youngstown East which dumped Canton Central Catholic 10-3. The tenth-placers are newcomers to the top 10.

From here and there: Jackson edged Pomeroy in the Southeastern Ohio league 13-12 to run its victory string to 21... Nelson Owens of Springfield carried the ball seven times against Portsmouth and gained 206 yard — an average of 29-plus. He scored twice.

Hamilton gets a look at Massillon's leaders this weekend — at practice. The Tigers have a Friday night date at Cincinnati Elder, will stay Thursday night at Hamilton, work out briefly Friday, and then head for the game scene. That's as close as the first and third-rated team will get. Hamilton defeated Elder 13-0 this year.

Halfback Charley Brown, who scored two of Massillon's TD's against Alliance, averaged 13 yards on 10 tries from scrimmage. Alliance, which gave Johnny Bor to of Ohio State and Len Dawson of Purdue to the Big Ten, has an other good tosser in Ted Davison, and a fine receiver in end Tom Schaefer. Schaefer scored against Massillon on a pass, and caught another for 50 yards.

Bill Stewart of Columbus St. Mary ran a kickoff back 100 yards against Zanesville Rosecrans—but St. Mary lost 26-6. Joel Williams of Hilliard ran 86 for his team's lone score in the 34-7 loss to London. Lou Martin of Columbus St. Charles, with three touchdowns in the 40-7 win over Washington C. H., ran his two-game output to six.

Jim Potts, East Liverpool quarterback, tossed three touchdowns passes in the 27-7 win over New Philly. Bert Dorsey was on the receiving end twice, one a 90-yard play. The Potters gained 274 yards on the ground and 223 in the air against what had looked like one of Bill Kidd's best defensive units.

Fremont Ross, which has allowed only one touchdown in three wins, credits such linemen as Wes Flower, 235; Dave Wolschuck, 225; Jim Clark, 223, and Lee Wolf 226 — a bunch of heavyweights the collegians will be giving the once-over.

Galion found a way to stop Upper Sandusky's Dennis Gerber who scored seven TD's in the first two games. But Dave McClain scored twice for the Uppers and passed for another touchdown to beat the previously undefeated Galions 21-6. McClain completed 7 of 10 passes for 133 yards and ran for another 121. He's a 172-pound senior quarterback.

Akron East, with three straight wins under new coach Dom Paltella, is singing the praises of half-back Erie Quiney who has scored 7 TD's while gaining 449 yards in 42 carries this year. Mogadore, which climbed the Class B title last season has upped its victory string to 22 by beating Suffield 58-0, Boston Twp. 20-13, and Hudson 52-0. Ned Novell is the coach.

Barberton's Magics with 2 ties and one victory have an all-around guy in quarterback George Izo. He's completed 28 of 44 passes for three touchdowns, and run for four others—one for 52 yards. He plunged for one extra point and booted four, does the punting and kickoff chores, and is a whale of a line-backer.

Two touchdowns per game is par for Joe Lowery, 166-pound halfback for Dover. He's done it three times this year—all on runs ranging from 21 to 70 yards. Bellaire has a 190-pound guard—Mike Ingram—who leads the interference, does the punting, and plays safety. He's run back two kicks for touchdowns, and rambled 70 yards with a fumble for another.

Hamilton has scored 13 points in each of its three victories, and you can't tell who's going to get 'em. Halfback Spud Horsby scored twice against Cincinnati Elder, and halfback Bill Crank twice against Mansfield. McKean booted the three extra points.

John Dresser, of Hilton Murphy's DeWitt team, is touted as the best back in the Toledo area. He averaged 10 yards for 17 carries in the verdict over Waite, scored from 55 and 9 yards out, and had a 66-yard scoring play called back because of a clipping penalty.

Liberty-Union, Mid-State League champ in 1953 and 1954, saw its 20-game conference streak halted 28-0 by Columbus Academy. The strig was started in 1952, after Academy had triumphed 19-0.

Halfbacks Doyle Smales and Paul McCorkle of unbeaten Oak Hill ran themselves ragged in the 44-6 win over Chesapeake. Smales scored on runs of 24, 75 and 70 yards, and McCorkle on jaunts of 89, 60 and 14.

Mel Knowlton of Alliance, 1954 coach of the year and boss of the winning north team in the August All-Star game at Mansfield, and Larry Peterson of Lancaster, coach of the Southern All-Stars, are having their troubles. Alliance has won one and lost two, while Lancaster has a 1-1-1 record.

Terps Again Lead In Poll

Oklahoma Moves Up Close To Michigan

By The Associated Press
Maryland and Oklahoma convinced the experts of their football might last Saturday and today stormed into commanding positions in the Associated Press ranking poll.

Maryland's Terrapins, holding a shaky first-place margin over Michigan a week ago and actually trailing in first-place votes, gained an unshakable lead as a result of their 20-6 victory over Baylor. Oklahoma's Sooners, who walloped Pittsburgh 26-14, jumped from fifth place to a strong third.

A total of 185 sports writers and broadcasters cast ballots and, in a surprising approach to unanimity, listed the first six teams this way: Maryland, Michigan, Oklahoma, Georgia Tech, Notre Dame and Army. Georgia Tech and Notre Dame slipped down one notch as a result of Oklahoma's show of strength.

From there on there wasn't such close agreement. UCLA retained seventh place by a bare two-point margin over Texas Christian, which moved up from 10th. Wisconsin vaulted into ninth and Southern California dropped to 18th. Ohio State, rated eighth a week ago, disappeared from the picture after a 6-0 upset at the hands of Stanford.

The Baylor game was regarded as the best test for Maryland after it had beaten UCLA the previous week. As a result, Maryland's victory brought it 1,568 points in the poll on the usual basis of 10 for each first-place vote, 9 for second, etc. It had 88 first-place votes.

Michigan had a close call against a fired-up Michigan State team, winning 14-7 on some breaks and alert football. That was enough to keep the Wolverines in second place with 27 first-place votes and 1,223 points.

The leaders with first-place votes in parentheses:

cars ARE MY Line
by Al Parker

You may have read of the drunko-meter test they use in some cities for drivers suspected of having a few too many. The driver breathes into a balloon and the police test his breath for alcohol. A certain percentage of alcohol and... you've had it. And no chlorophyll gum can help you.

Most people know about a similar test you can try on a used car (not that our cars look drunk, mind you, but it's a similar idea). Almost everybody watches for smoke from the exhaust, but I find a lot of people really don't know what they're looking for, or why.

When you're browsing around a used car, race the engine a few times and watch the exhaust fumes for blue smoke. It's the blue you want to look for, not gray or black.

What does it all mean? The car that billows blue smoke is burning oil. Eventually, it will require a ring job, as all cars do sooner or later.

It's not a sign of anything fundamentally wrong (the driver in the breath test can be sobered up pretty quickly). If you like the car in other ways it will still be a good buy.

We didn't have any blue-smokers on the lot the last time I looked. When you're snoring around, though, I hope you'll ask to be shown everything you want to see, ask the things you want to know—poke around a little yourself to make sure.

Take a car out on the road and drive it the way you'll be driving your own. You do that much for a new pair of shoes, we want you to get the "feel" of your new-used car, too.

One we would especially like you to try is a 1951 Chevrolet Sport Coupe. Owned by an elderly couple who have recently retired and are leaving now to make their home in Florida. Driven only 24,000 actual miles and looks and runs like new. Drive this one and I'm sure you'll buy it.

Veterans Day will be observed by the local American Legion post Nov. 11 at a dinner when Philip Lustic, commander of the department of Ohio American Legion, will be guest speaker. It was decided at a meeting Monday in the post.

Services for the Veterans Day observance were outlined at the meeting by John Herman, past commander. Ray Greenstein, first vice commander, reported on the membership quota.

A film on aircraft spotting was presented by T. Sgt. Paul Helfrich of Canton who explained the need for a station located in Salem. Also featured was a movie of past activities, shown by Clifford Whinnery, past commander.

An invitation was extended to the post by the auxiliary to attend a joint coverdish dinner Oct. 25.

High School

files should be placed in the new building. Krinsky said this action would eliminate the cost which would have been involved in building these rooms.

Cafeteria to be Included
The architect said the building will include a cafeteria and kitchen on the first floor, with the cafeteria also doubling as a large study hall during school hours.

A library, which will also be available for community use, also will go on the first floor, Krinsky said.

He said at the present the architects are planning an auditorium which will seat 1,200 people with hopes that money will be available to include it.

Chemistry, physics and science laboratories will be on the first floor also, the architect said, so that it will be easier to maintain the plumbing, wiring and gas lines by placing them in the crawl space under the floor rather than between the floors as would be necessary if they were on the second floor.

The gym and shop buildings will be one story high, Krinsky said, with only the academic classrooms put into a two-story building. There will be no basement in the building, he added.

Krinsky said he hopes the board will decide on gas or oil heating for the boiler plant instead of coal. He said it will do away with the smoke and the necessity of hauling coal up a ramp to the boiler plant.

The boiler room will be located toward the center of the buildings, separate from the main structure.

Building Preferences Cited
Krinsky said it is to expensive to build a high school on a pre-conceived idea of architecture. A modern, functional building is cheaper to construct today, he said.

Krinsky said he prefers double hung windows with aluminum sash and limestone window sills on the interior. In the classrooms he plans to use aluminum around the doors.

Krinsky said the planning of the interior is aimed at economical, easy maintenance of the building, without repainting needed every few years.

The outside of the building will be face brick, he said, of orange, red or buff.

The building will be thoroughly fireproofed, Krinsky went on. Asphalt tile or linoleum will be used on the classroom floors.

He plans to use glazed tile walls in the corridors. Krinsky said beautiful colors are available in this material. Glazed tile in the classrooms also is being planned for easy maintenance.

In the gym, Krinsky said he preferred a glazed material for about seven feet high, then above that a painted concrete block.

He visualized beautiful lobbies in the gym, auditorium and administration offices of oak, lined oak or marble. He said the lobbies will be in quiet colors with low ceilings of soundproofing materials.

Lockers will be set in the corridors, recessed into the walls, Krinsky said. Air will be drawn through the lockers through an air space behind them and out a vent, Krinsky said, to dry any clothes hung wet in them.

On the recommendation of Krinsky, the board decided to have a survey taken on the proposed site for use of the architects.
